COLLEGE NOTES.

Again sleigh parties are all the rage.

R. B. Kyle returned from Macomb Thursday.

Have you heard about it? If so, how many?

E. R. Brown spent Sunday at his home in Maple Park.

Frank A. Crippen, ex. '99, is expected to return to school in a couple of weeks.

Wallace Rumsey gave a sleigh party to a few Phi Pi Epsilon friends last Monday.

M. K. Baker, '97, and D. S. Wentworth, ex. '99, visited with Phi Pi Epsilon friends last week.

The next student rally is fixed for March 4, when Rev. E. C. Ray, of Chicago, will speak.

Capt. I. P. Rumsey gave a very interesting talk on "War" before the Y. M. C. A. Thursday evening.

A. B. Hoagland has returned from his home in Elgin where he spent last week on account of ill health.

W. A. Graff, manager of the Musical Club, has been on the road this week arranging dates for the spring trip.

Now that the successful candidates for the Glee Club have been chosen, the club is hard at work preparing for the spring trip.

Tuesday evening the Freshman class was given a dance by Miss Lady Ford in Waukegan. A very pleasant evening was enjoyed.

After the second Alumni indoor ball game last Monday an exciting game of basket ball was played between picked teams.

Several of the Alumni, who expected to play on the indoor ball team Monday missed their trains and their places were filled by Cads.

The melodious (?) tones of the "dog house (a la violin cell) startle the inoffending natives of North Hall every day from — a. m. to — a. m.

College students have entered into an agreement not to smoke in the North Hall parlors. They have so far kept their agreement, viz. i. e., no parlors open, no smoke.

Fisher, '00, grew very suddenly from guard to center and captain of the Lake Forest football team on his way back to Coe College. At least, so says the Coe College Cosmos.

A chess club has been formed in college and a tournament is soon to be begun. The entries at present are: Davies, Brown, Jaeger, Matthews, Walker, Eisenhart, Rheingans, J. Jackson, Roberts, Kemp, and Betten.

The College Instrumental Quartette, Messrs. Hanson, Brown, Ray, and Lauranz, met with a very enthusiastic reception in the concert given at Libertyville last week. They report that Professor "Dick" Stoops is getting along finely.

Flashes From the Wires.

Feb. 22.—Time, 5 p. m. Place, Libertyville. "Hank" (passing a house) "Oh, look at the rubber necks in that window!" Driver: "Yes, that's where I live." Confusion.

Feb. 23.—"Nine-thirty, third floor—all's well" (Note.—The laugh comes in here.)

Feb. 25.—Sounds resembling a small (?) sized dog fight in progress issue from room 21. Investigation reveals R. B. Kyle playing (?) on the violoncello.

Feb. 24.—1 a. m. Mr. Weaver told Mr. Fales, and Miss Fales tolled the bell.

Feb. 24.—1:15 a. m. "Save your breath, fellows! Fire! Fire!!" Sounds of passing footsteps.

ACADEMY NOTES.

E. S. Banta visited Chicago Saturday.

Hoyt Holden spent Saturday and Sunday visiting his sister at Highwood.

Warner J. Preston, who has been sick at his aunt's home in Chicago, returned to school Saturday.

John Johnston and Philip Shaffner spent Saturday and Sunday in Chicago with Philip's parents.

Harold Percival, who adopted the two meal a day plan about three months ago, is again taking his regular three meals.

Prof. Strong took his Zoology class to Field's Columbian Museum Saturday. The boys found the visit interesting and instructive.

Professor Cooper has been sick with Tonsillitis for the last week. This has been much regretted by the boys among whom he is a very popular and well-liked professor.

At the meeting of the Farmer's Alliance held Saturday evening a large number of applicants presented themselves for admission. An interesting program was rendered.

Miss Florence S. Raymond, instructor in Mathematics and Miss Sarah A. Pratt, instructor in English and History, both of Elgin Academy, visited Prof. and Mrs. Welch Saturday.

Tuesday, March 1, 1898.

Dear William:—

When the baby has the nightmare, you jump out of bed, scared, dazed, can't tell where the crib is, fall over the rocking chair, run into the edge of the door, nose on, say something, and then finally as you stub your toe on the dresser, what's the first thing you think of? You haven't paid your Stentor bill yet. That's the source of all troubles. Pay your bill and live in peace. Being that today is the first of the month, don't you think it would be a fine scheme to pay up at once? E. S. Hamm or A. H. Millar will be glad to meet you bent on such an enterprise so don't fight shy of either of them at chapel tomorrow.

As ever, Hope.

Time,—Friday, 2:30. Place,—Latin room. "Doc" Myers asleep; "Doc" Johnson holding fast to the reins. Millar, feet spread out, sitting at an angle of 45 degrees, Williams translating Dido's love story at average of 2 words a minute. Fourteen shoes unshined. Prof. McK. bearing a far away expression on his face. Tap—tap—tap— on the door. Professor answers the knock. Meyers wakes up. Fair damsel enters. All wake up. Millar tries to hide his unshined shoes and sits up at an angle of 90 degrees. Johnson drops the reins. Williams translates the love story at the average of 50 words a minute. Hour ends. Seven most fortunate beings are introduced to damsel. Damsel smiles. "Happy Seven" smile. Exit damsel. * * * Time, 10:25 Saturday. Place, Latin room. Enter Myers—shoes shined, clothes brushed, new tie. Enter Millar, Johnson and Follet—shoes shined and wearing big smiles. Enter Whitney, Mayer and Williams—six shoes well shined, new ties, everybody good-natured. Enter damsel smiling. Moral: 'Tis the scarcity of wheat that raises it's value.

NEWS FROM ARISTOCRACY HEIGHTS.

The perpetrator of the flat tones in the Senior corridor is requested to dispense with them until vacation.

"Two souls with but a single thought, two hearts that beat as one", the favorite quotation of each of the solid couples.

The inhabitants of China are slowly disappearing. We hear of "Chinamen being killed" every day. They have our sympathy.

Ferry Hall Seniors have broken the record. During the month of February not one girl was late to a single meal. Monday evening Miss Sargent entertained the girls at a six o'clock dinner at which Prof. and Mrs. Smith were invited guests.

L.—I wonder who it was that first declared that "time is money"?

J.—I feel positive that it was some unfortunate fellow who hired a sleigh by the hour.

The above has passed as being original, but we doubt it.

Personals.

Mr. Frank Wilson took luncheon with his sister Tuesday.

Miss Ripley spent the last of the week at her home in Kankakee.

Miss Mary Moffat was the guest of friends in the city over Sunday.

Miss Myrtle McElroy spent Tuesday in the city with her mother.

Miss Helen Creelman spent Wednesday in the city with her father.

Miss McClintock visited with friends in Chicago Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Emily Johnson attended the Washington matinee at McVicker's Tuesday.

The pupils of Prof. Eager gave a recital in the Chapel Monday evening after dinner.

Mrs. Wilson, of Harvard, Ill., was the guest of her daughter, Miss Harriet, over Sunday.

Miss Luella Payton and Miss Beulah Payne visited friends at Waukegan Friday and Saturday.

Misses Grace, Marguerite and Miriam Follansbee went home Friday to celebrate Miss Miriam's birthday.

"To go, or not to go" was the all important question. They finally decided not to go and send the money to the missionaries instead (?).

Miss Maude Everett is authorized by the STENTOR management to collect subscriptions for the STENTOR and will give receipts for same.—Ed.

All messengers, ice-men or expressmen entering the campus, especially to collect bills, must possess diplomas from accredited High Schools.

Miss Emma Williams, Miss Gertrude Dietrich and Miss Amy Diehl were entertained by Miss Lady Ford at Waukegan Friday at a party.

Miss May Jones, who was attending a party at Highland Park Tuesday evening, fell and dislocated her wrist. She will return to school some time next week.

A benefit party will be given for "Miss Veto" in the near future. Any donations of wearing apparel will be gratefully received. Diamonds also accepted and money in small amounts.

Miss Sargent read a splendid paper on "The Evolution of the English School System" before the Art Institute Thursday evening. Miss Ripley gave a delightful instrumental solo.

Miss Bertha Pierce and Miss Ina Young, formerly students at Ferry Hall, were entertained by Miss Hart and Miss Marguerite Harbaugh Friday and Saturday. Saturday morning after Chapel Miss Pierce, who has studied elocution with Miss Fleming gave two pieces, "The Soul of the Violin" and "So was I" in a charming manner.

The Episcopalians at the Seminary will observe Lent by holding meetings once or twice a week in Miss Cushman's room.

Unsolicited advice to college men—Young gentlemen, believe your beliefs and doubt your doubts. Do not make the mistake of doubting your beliefs and believing your doubts. C. F. D.

Many were the ties broken last Friday and Saturday by the grand rush made for the city. With a few exceptions everyone took advantage of the leave of absence granted at the end of the month.

Candy, peanuts, and gum have been indulged in to a great extent during the past two weeks. Many of the more conscientious maidens will eschew all these goodies during the Lenten season. Plans are already being made for filling the Lent boxes. Shampooing, light housework, darning, mending, and sweeping will be the signs upon many doors. The money from these services will go to fill the box.

Entered in the Post Office at Lake Forest,
Ill., as second-class matter.

For a number of weeks now the Reading Room of the college has been a scene of unrelieved darkness at night, and students who wish to use the magazines and papers at those hours cannot have the privilege. This matter is one which deserves some attention, and inasmuch as the students are partial supporters of the reading room it seems no more than right that they should have the fullest use of it. Another matter which is quite evident lately is the lack of magazines upon the tables. Cannot this be remedied and the reading room made to fill its nominal position?

A movement has recently been started by the Students for an entertainment for assistance in athletics in a pecuniary way. This plan originally was to give a play of some kind, but this idea has been given up for several reasons and now the idea of giving a Promenade has been settled upon. In all the other colleges and universities of the west and elsewhere we now hear reports of the regular annual Promenade or Hop and these are in some cases made to contribute largely to other student movements. Such a plan certainly ought to be carried out in Lake Forest with success, for many reasons. For the consideration of this plan a mass meeting of the students has been called for Wednesday at 1:15 p. m., March 2nd.

MR. MASON ADDRESSES STUDENTS.

Tuesday morning, Feb. 22, all the students gathered at the Art Institute to hear Mr. Edward G. Mason's address on "Washington and the West." The paper he read was scholarly and entertaining and received a great deal of merited attention and praise. Dr. McClure presided at the meeting and introduced Mr. Mason, who then spoke, bringing out the following points clearly:

Washington saw with prophetic foresight the greatness of the New West which had not at his time opened up, and the west is more deeply indebted to Washington's plans for its welfare than we generally suppose. Washington's early exploration of and ownership of parts of the west alone show the vast importance which he attached to the opening up of the new country, and besides this it is well known from his private and public letters how much he advocated close communication and unity of interests between the eastern and western sections of the original thirteen states. Afterward when Washington was President, his interest in the west led him to adopt the only possible way of securing safety to the lives of Western Settlers from the Indians, that of war; and when General Wayne finally did conquer the Indians, part of the present site of Chicago was granted by them to the United States; "thus we trace a direct connection between Chicago and Wayne and Washington."

Mr. Mason brought out strongly the traits in Washington's character worthy of admiration, and said that appreciation of Washington's greatness is growing continually, as is our knowledge of his personal qualities.

RALLY.

On Thursday next another Student Rally will take place in the Art Institute. All the students in the departments will meet at 4 o'clock. This rally will be somewhat the same as the one held in January except that Dr. McClure has secured a speaker for the occasion, the Rev. E. C. Ray, of Chicago, who will deliver a short address. A program has been arranged, consisting of musical and recitatorial numbers, and it is expected that a jolly lively time will be had by all.

MITCHELL HALL NOTES.

Miss Mary Rife gave a spread Monday evening.

Miss Gridley went to Prairie View for over Sunday.

Miss Moore entertained Miss McQueen at dinner Friday.

Mrs. George Rogers spent Sunday with her daughters.

Miss Steele spent Saturday at the home of Miss Cross in Waukegan.

Prof. and Mrs. Halsey were the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Sickles at dinner Friday evening.

Several of the College women were privileged to attend the University Club Thursday evening, through the courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. Latimer.

The Mitchell Hall Freshmen attended the party which was given by Misses Coon, Cross, Brockway and Ford Tuesday evening at Waukegan.

The Altheian Society and their friends enjoyed a rare treat Friday evening when Prof. Halsey read a scholarly paper on "The Causes and Character of the Elizabethan Drama." Music was rendered by Miss Steel and Miss Wood. An informal reception followed the literary exercises. Among the visitors present were Mrs. Halsey, Mrs. Davies, Misses Pratt and Raymond, of Elgin, Mr. Welsh, Misses Basterdes, Davies, Gardner, Rumsey, Benton and Murphy.

FIRE.

Many are the exciting tales which will be told for some time now by the college men of how the fire was put out. The occasion of the excitement last Wednesday night was the issuing of flames from the roof of the new residence of Mr. Frost on Westminister Avenue. Mr. Weaver, who happened to be passing at the time, saw the flames and gave the alarm. The quick work of a few of the neighbors and the early appearance of the fire company saved the house from complete destruction. Considerable assistance was rendered by the college men.

FROM "THE WORLD."

The following telegram was received by Dr. McClure from the New York World February 26th:

"PRES. LAKE FOREST UNIVERSITY:—

What in your opinion would be the duty of the President of United States should the Court of Inquiry find destruction of Maine due to Spanish treachery. Would not the exaction of freedom for Cuba be the only adequate atonement?

THE WORLD.

Dr. McClure's answer was as follows:

"Whatever the cause of destruction of Maine, no wise judgment can be pronounced concerning it until all facts are known, including persons and influences leading up to it.

J. G. K. MCCLURE.

There are many reasons it is true why United States would make a good move by declaring war or demanding indemnity, however, Dr. McClure's rational reply to this telegram contains words of reason which may well be heeded by some of our newspapers.

SCIENCE CLUB.

At a meeting of the Science Club last Wednesday evening J. A. Anderson gave an interesting and instructive talk on Petroleum, regarding its location and commercial value in this and other parts of the world. Mr. Anderson's lecture was listened to and much enjoyed by about twenty-five students. Mr. Anderson has recently been appointed as Professor in chemistry in the Academy and reports from that quarter give us to understand that he is duly popular, and carrying on successful work there. He is at present taking post graduate work in Biology under Professor Harper in the College. His training and experience in the College Laboratories has been extensive and Mr. Anderson will undoubtedly become a successful experimenter and promoter of science.

ATHLETICS.

Don't forget the Basket Ball game Saturday evening, L. F. U. vs. West Side Y. M. C. A.

Yale Basket Ball team has challenged Cornell team for a game to be played the latter part of this term.

The out door base ball team received quite an addition to its treasury by the two games of indoor base ball last week.

W. F. Jackson won the $\frac{1}{4}$ mile potato race at Chicago Athletic Association Wednesday. Klunder, the crack runner, was compelled to be satisfied with second place—time 2.34 4-5.

The West Side Y. M. C. A. Basket Ball team will come out here Saturday and cast fortune with our team. This is one of the strongest teams in the city, and as our boys are improving very much since the last game this should be a very close and interesting game.

After the base ball game Tuesday afternoon the crowd were permitted to remain and witness a practice game of basket ball of thirty minutes duration. It was very close and exciting, resulting in a score of 16 to 12. It was much enjoyed by all those who remained to see it.

The Basket Ball management wish to say that the game Saturday night will be free from the disagreeable "kicking" and ungentlemanly play which characterized the game last week, as the Y. M. C. A. team are made up of gentlemen and who play the game for the sport they find in it.

Last Wednesday afternoon the Academy track team had its first test and the result was very satisfactory. While the time compared with out door time was not fast, yet considering the short turns that are on the indoor track the time was good. The following is a summary of the events and time made: One half mile, Tupper 2:45, Percival 2.55, Shedden 2.56, Parsons 2.59, Hibbard 3. One mile, Biggs 6.36, Hall 6.39, 220 yds., Landman 34 1-5, 100 yds., McClure 16. One mile relay—seven men 4.44 3-5. Several promising candidates were unable to be present but their time will be taken next week.

L. F. U. 10.-Alumni 1.

After the Alumni suffered defeat at the hands of the undergraduate team on Monday evening of last week they at once challenged the students to another game for Tuesday afternoon. Whether it was from remorse or the lack of navigating power, Capt Warren did not show up for the second game. For the same or some other reason several other of the Alumni were conspicuous by their absence. So Prof. McKee and several Academy boys were pressed into service and a very exciting game was the result.

The following is the line up and score:

L. F. U.	Alumni.
3 B.—Betten,	C.—Terwilleger,
2 B.—Jaeger,	R. S.—Dnrand,
R. S.—Wood,	P.—D. H. Jackson,
1 B.—J. Jackson,	1 B.—Stark,
R. F.—Hyde,	2 B.—Banning,
P.—Blackler,	L. S.—Wentworth,
L. B.—Sickles,	3 B.—Runsey,
L. S.—Curtis,	R. F.—McKee,
C.—Jackson.	L. F.—Baker.

Struck out by Blackler 7; by Jackson 7. Bases on balls off Blackler 1; off Jackson 7. Total bases L. F. U. 63; Alumni 20. Score—L. F. U. 10; Alumni 1.

A POEM.

Among last week's contributions appeared the following poem, which through carelessness the editor did not run. He has recently, however, learned the name of its author, Mr. Gilbert of the academy, and after carefully gleaning the contents of the editorial waste basket, this little gem was extracted and thus saved, to the glory of this divine bard, through all time to come. As a warning to all contributors it may be well to say that a signature when attached to contributions will much aid the literary editor in judging their merits. We humbly apologize to the gentleman for our carelessness last week. Signed, ———, printer's D—.

VIGNETTES OF THE FIRE.

It is midnight. Silence reigns. Time passes—which is a peculiar way time has. Suddenly the awful silence breaks in twain and the iron throated church bell peals forth its warning notes. A stir is heard. Keys rattle in their locks and white robed forms punctuate the inky blackness of the corridors. Soon all is excitement, and, with voices trembling with suppressed eagerness, they discuss the probable and improbable causes of the said tolling of said bell of the iron throat. The discussion waxes hot apace. In a moment room 22 is thrown open and a night cap bobs out the open door and Colwell '99, in stentorian tones well befitting his size, says: "Avaunt, to bed you churls, don't you know this is the beginning of Lent? That's what the bells are ringing for." Committee is sent to inform said A. H. C. '99 of said stentorian tones that Lent begins on Ash Wednesday. Confusion reinstated.

Hurried footsteps run down the street as does also many a strong and valiant son of L. F. U. Far in the lead runs Huizenga '99, with his long swinging stride. It is reported that Huizenga '99 fell down six times between the Presbyterian church and half past one. Mortal flesh could not stand the awful pace he set, and, as the procession filed past the corner of University Ave. and Lovers Lane, they found that Huizenga '99 had long ago sat down by a tree to think it over.

Enter C. H. D. running, speaks breathlessly—"Fellows, the U. S. has declared war against Spain and a call for one million volunteers has been sent out. The church bell even now rings out the call to duty. Are you 'chicken?'"

O. H. M. } "Not we. We will fight for the
M. O. A. } honor of our country and our flag as long as the warm blood courses through our veins."

C. H. D. "Then hasten, for they are even now meeting in the church and in the morning you will be far on your way towards the sunny hills of Castile."

Scene closes (also one one of C. H. D.'s eyes the next morning), showing O. H. M. and M. O. A. hurriedly dressing so as to be among the first to enlist in the volunteer movement.

In the burning building all is in uproar and confusion. Smoke begrimed faces flit through the rooms and many a drenched college student runs through the halls carrying hose and running for help. At the front stand W. F. and D. H. J. battling with the demon fire. W. K. H. wields a hatchet with terrible fervor. And then, look, upon the utmost summit of the seething, blazing roof! Who can they be that thus risk their fair young lives? Suddenly the flames break forth; and, in the sudden glare of light we discover R. H. C., J. B. T. and E. R. B. armed with scoop shovels exercising their massive sinews as they shovel back the strong north wind. Their combined efforts begin to tell. The billows of flame sink lower, and, with a last dying sputter, sink into the sable darkness of night. All becomes quiet and the field is left with the bare memories of a brave and desperate fight. Again night has become supreme.

GESS NIT.

A joint debate between the University of Kansas and the University of Missouri has been decided upon. Representatives of these universities will meet in Lawrence, Kas., on March 18th, to discuss the question: "Resolved, thht a national income tax would be a desirable part of our scheme of taxation." Whether Missouri is to have the affirmative and Kansas the negative side of the question, or vice versa, will be settled by lot by the chancellor of the University of Nebraska one month before the day of the debate. It is expected that this will be the first.—Pennsylvaniaian.

Nautical.

Said the whiskered med
To the fair co-ed,
"I'm like a ship at sea—
Exams are near,
And much I fear
I will unlucky be."

"Then" murmured she,
"A shore I'll be,
Come rest, thy journey o'er."
Then darkness fell
And all was well,

For the ship had hugged the shore.

* SNIDE TALKS WITH GIRLS.

By Rash Ruthmore.

CYNTHIANA:

You should exercise great caution in manicuring the finger nails with a "buzz saw." Remember the touching fate of the young gentleman from the great Western metropolis, so tritely expressed by the poet:

There was a young man from Chicago,
Who wanted to see a buzz saw go;
He put down his face, too near to the place,
And my! Oh, where did his jaw go?
Milton's "Paradise Lost."

GWENDOLIN:

(1) If a young gentleman whom you know but slightly sends you a very soft valentine it is quite the proper thing to "throw him down" hard. (2) The answer to your second question we have repeatedly stated in these columns is to be found in our second issue for March, 1802, which has, however, gone out of print and cannot be obtained.

ANGYLINE:

"Would you marry a young man who smokes cigarettes?" Yes, we would—if he proposes. We smoke the vile weed in that form ourself semi-occasionally, and though we don't fully give our approval of their use we do not consider such indulgence a bar to matrimony. It makes them cheaper for you, too, if you use them.

ETHEL Q.:

If you have bleached your hair the only remedy we can suggest is that you cut it, cure it, bleach your eyebrows, and get a job as an Albino in a dime museum.

MAUDY:

It is not considered necessary to ask a young man to call. If he has a "full house" or a "flush" he will probably "call" your "raise" without your asking him to do so.

OLIVE:

"How shall you present a young man to a young lady?" You might pack him in an air tight box, seal him up, put the proper address on, and send him C. O. D. by express or freight.
