Tri Kappa The Victor.

Just the night before our spring vacation began, the two Academy Societies, Gamma Sigma and Tri Kappa, once again did battle for supremacy in literary attainments. This year the contest was in the nature of a revival of interest in the societies, as last year no contest was held, and a resultant decline in Society interest was shown. This renewal of these contests, which were started when the societies were first organized, was also somewhat of an experiment, and as to whether another should take place next year depended largely on the actions of the members of the societies. Principal Welch, however, expresses himself as entirely satisfied with the spirit shown by both societies before and since the contest, and considers that the contest was satisfactory in every way. The probabilities therefore are that next year another contest of the same nature will be held.

The contest from point of merit was up to the highest standard of years past, and was in no way below the standard which should be maintained. As a contest, it was interesting from its closeness, as Tri Kappa won it by a narrow margin of three per cent in the general average. These contests have grown to be looked for with pleasure by all the students and many Lake Forest people and they are always sure to produce first class literary programs. The constituents of the societies both in Ferry Hall and in the College were as deeply interested this year as ever, and through the weeks before the contest scarcely anyone in school could remain non-partisan.

Mr. Chas. H. Holt originated these contests in 1889, and up to 1896 annually gave medals to the individual winners and a banquet to the winning society. In 1897 there was no contest. Mr. Holt this year gave as a trophy to the winning society a handsome framed picture of Abraham Lincoln, which now adorns Tri Kappa's hall. Mr. Arthur Reid, an alumnus of the Academy, gave this year a gold and a silver medal as first and second prizes in Declamation. Dr. B. M. Linnell, of Chicago, also an alumnus of the Academy, gave a gold medal as first prize in Debate. Mr. Walter C. Larned, of Lake Forest, gave a gold medal as a prize to the winner in the Essay contest.

The following program was given, the music being furnished by the College Mandolin Quartette, Messrs. Loranz, Brown, Ray and Hanson:

Music, "Bride Elect"....Mandolin Quartette Prayer.

1. DECLAMATION.
"The Unknown Speaker"....Oliver P. Willis
"The Trial of Abner Barrow".............

.................................Will H. Gilbert
"The Battle of Mission Ridge"....A. E. Hall
The Arena Scene from "Quo Vadis"

.................................J. T. Blair Larned

H. DEBATE.

"RESOLVED: The English Constitution is

III. ESSAY.
"English Supporters of the American Colonies"...........Arthur H. Crosbie
"The Plane of the Jew"....Eugene S. Hamm
Music..............................Mandolin Quartette

The following gentlemen, all of Chicago, acted as judges of the events on the program:

Declamation—Judge J. E. Gary, Judge N. C. Sears, Judge O. H. Horton, Judge C. G. Neely, Dr. J. A. Ronthaler.

Debate—Judge J. E. Gary, Judge N. C. Sears, Judge O. H. Horton, Judge C. G. Neely, Dr. J. A. Ronthaler.

Essay—Judge N. C. Sears, Judge J. E.
Gary, Dr. J. A. Rondhaler.

The men who so successfully defended the glory of Tri Kappa are deserving of credit, as indeed are the unsuccessful defenders of Gamma Sigma’s colors. Mr. Gilbert who won first place for Tri Kappa in Declamation, gave an exceedingly clever and charming selection to which he did justice. Blair Larned, for one so young as he, presented a difficult selection from “Quo Vadis” in a masterly style, and secured second place for Tri Kappa in Declamation. Mr. Crosbie read a really good live essay, showing clear thought and a vigorous, bright style. He secured by his work the first prize in the essay contest. Perhaps the best part of the program was the debate, and Johnson, who had a worthy opponent in Preston, showed considerable genius and a clear, logical, reasoning ability worthy of mention.

COLLEGE NOTES.

C. E. Rath spent a few days during vacation in Racine, Wis.

F. A. Crippen has re-entered school and expects to remain this term.

Messrs Kyle and Tewksbury have been on the sick list the past week.

E. R. Skinner has been unable to attend recitations during the past week.

A number of Alumni practiced base ball with the Varsity Saturday afternoon.

Don’t forget the home concert of the Glee Club Friday night at the Art Institute.

W. F. Jackson has so far recovered from his illness as to be about the campus again.

Prof. Stevens and Anderson spent a few days in vacation week hunting among the lakes.

The Rally Thursday passed into college history as the most enjoyable one hitherto given.

F. A. DuBridge spent last Friday in North Chicago in search of cinders for the athletic track.

“Spenda de mon” Spaghetti, the prince of banana men, made a hasty (?) visit in North Hall Friday.

The members of the Musical Clubs returned after vacation well satisfied with their very successful trip.

Skinner ’01 has received notice from the I. N. G. to hold himself in readiness for field service at any moment.

A new species of wheel, commonly known as the bicycle, has already begun to occupy the minds and thoughts of the students now that spring is here.

The Varsity base ball team will play its first game next Saturday with Englewood High School, one of the strongest preparatory school teams in Chicago.

Those who wish to use the college tennis courts this spring must first interview Mr. W. K. Herrick and pay the membership dues of one dollar. The courts will be very soon in good condition.

The Tennis Association held a meeting Thursday and elected officers for this spring. The following were elected:

President, H. R. Anderson,
Vice President, R. H. Curtis,
Secretary, L. N. Sickels,
Treasurer, W. K. Herrick.

ACADEMY NOTES.

Who is it that returns from his vacation later than Banta? Campbell.

W. Gilbert visited Elgin Thursday to attend the funeral services of a friend.

Elizabeth Welch, sister of Prof. Welch and a teacher in the Milwaukee public schools, is a visitor at the Eliza Remson cottage.

Miss Mack gladdened the hearts of the homesick boys who spent their vacation on the campus, by a candy pull one evening last week.

The third Academy team surprised Lake Forest by coming out to practice last Monday, dressed in suits of gray which are very becoming.

Prof. McKee makes semi-weekly trips to the city where he is taking a course of eye treatment. Although his eyes absorb much of his attention, yet he is able to catch the small (?) boy passing the hat.
Prof. Dudley, a former teacher of science in the "cad," was a visitor at school during chapel services Thursday morning and gave a word of greeting to the boys.

Prof. Truesdale spent part of his vacation in Ann Arbor, Mich., attending a classical conference. This was the largest gathering of Greek and Latin teachers ever held in the west.

The kodak friends are doing good work these fine, sunny days. It is hardly safe to even entertain a thought if you wish to avoid being caught in the act by the painful snap shot.

The meeting of the societies was postponed Wednesday on account of the time being required for school work. Owing to some irregularities caused by the contest and the vacation, school was held Wednesday afternoon.

Work on the new track on the "cad" athletic field is now begun. When this is finished the academy will have as good athletic grounds as are to be found in any similar school. The track work has already begun but will be continued more systematically upon the completion of the track.

It used to be "Spiv" speaking the Swedish dialect, then it was Parsons and his love affairs, then it was the Professor of modern Hentacks rendering melodiously the original version of "A Hot Time." But, alas, the dormitory, awary of the past, must now endure that sublime musician's rendition of all the "latest"(?) songs on his indescribable, remarkable pure tin flute.

The Gamma Sigma literary society elected officers before vacation for the spring term. The following were elected to offices:
President, Eugene Hamn.
Vice-president, A. E. Hall.
Secretary, Perley Terwilliger.
Treasurer, H. A. Cameron.
Financial secretary, Leslie Hale.
Sergeant-at-Arms, William Welch.

The election of officers of the Y.M.C.A. for the ensuing year was held at a business meeting of this organization Tuesday night, and the following were chosen:
President, E. S. Hamn.
Vice-president, Will Gilbert.
Secretary, Stanley C. Foote.
Treasurer, Edward J. Tupper.

At its recent election of officers for the ensuing term the Tri Kappa literary society elected the following officers:
President, Edgar G. France.
Vice-president, Nathan B. Swift.
Secretary, Will H. Gilbert.
Financial secretary, Landmann.
Treasurer, John Biggs.

A few months ago a secret society was formed among the boys of the Eliza Remson cottage. As a symbol of mutual brotherhood a peculiar style of hat has since been worn by these boys. Following closely upon this, the boys of Annie Durand cottage invested in hats of similar style but of a different hue, by which the inhabitants of Annie Durand cottage may be recognized. As would naturally follow, the boys of the "Dorm," not to be behind in loyalty to their place of abode, have invested in new lids, combining about equally the Academy colors. And now the "Dorm" boys

"Feel just as happy as a big sun-flower
That nods and bends in the breezes,
Their hats are as loud as the wind that blows
The limbs from off the treeses."

It would be too long a story to relate how each individual who remained on the campus spent his time during the vacation, but it would not take long to tell how some of them raked leaves. It is only dull monotony that makes a task difficult. But when there are delicate hands to relieve, by the asking of leave, from the raking of leaves, and by this relief the hands soon retrieve and a smile you receive, you reluctantly leave off the raking of leaves.

The above voices the sentiments of some of the boys who were laboring at this usually monotonous task when the "Sem" girls came out in force to make some missionary (?) money.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Watson, recently of 3409 Calumet avenue, Chicago, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Abby Newell Watson, to Mr. Robert Vernett Erskine, of Lake Forest. On Friday night, April 1st, Prof. Burnap gave the last of a series of free lectures which the members of our faculty have been giving at the request of the Chicago Record and the Board of Education, of Chicago. These lectures have been given regularly once a week in the assembly room of the Brentano School on the West Side. At these lectures an average attendance of 800 was had. The lectures were on popular subjects of different varieties and which are more or less before the public mind at the present time. The large attendances at these lectures and the work of our Professors must assuredly have brought before a great many people in that part of Chicago a realization of the fact that Lake Forest University is a live and thriving Institution and as such most certainly we wish it to be known.

As we enter upon a new term the students must all feel that it will be a very pleasant and successful one. There has not been for many years such a feeling of enthusiasm in student movements as has been shown thus far this year and is being shown now. We have gone through what is considered the hardest term of the three in the year, particularly in regard to school work, and now as we take up the new term we should endeavor to make it successful in every way.

There is always more or less of a question in the minds of students as to how much time they can put on outside work and still do their full duty in the class room, and a great many students seem to think that so much of their time is required for school work alone that they have no time for other matters. However we find just such persons very frequently spending their hours of recreation in idly strolling about the campus and worrying (if they are ever guilty of such an act) over the work they have to do, and fatally acquiring the loafing habit. If these persons were to take an interest in some of the student organizations and enterprises they would find that in this kind of work is recreation. And as success in student organizations only comes from complete co-operation, let these remarks be a plea to all who do not at present take an interest in anything save school work, to take hold and help bear the burdens which so often one or two or a half dozen students carry.

THE GLEE CLUB TOUR.

The spring tour of the University Glee, Banjo and Mandolin Clubs has passed into history as being from many standpoints the most successful in the history of the organization thus far.

Monday morning, March 28, the twenty-seven men whose time had for a few weeks previous been spent in rehearsals, with an occasional attendance at class by way of variety, loaded themselves on the private car they found attached to the 12:15 train and started on their merry way rejoicing. Milwaukee was reached without further incident than that the infant portion of the crowd, viz: Elliott and Curtis, not "bein' used ter ridin' on the train" lost their hats soon after the start was so auspiciously made.

Sheboygan was reached without further accident and the moment our worthy manager stepped upon the station platform he was seized by the strong arms of seven or nine runners for various hotels and he was only rescued by the strong valiant mixture of the law who, by an all wise Providence happened to be there at the time. A large and an appreciative audience greeted us that evening at the Turner Opera House. Applause was generously bestowed and after the program an informal dance was indulged in, kindly given us by the Elks lodge.

Sheboygan Falls was the smallest of the towns in the itinerary and about the largest audience greeted us. The crowd was generous in its expressions of approval and third encores were the rule rather than the exception.

Plymouth was the next stop made where we appeared under the auspices of the Turn-verein. The morning following the Plymouth Concert the fellows tramped to the station early—about nine o'clock—to find the car forming part of a young freight train. After various and sundry accidents a start was made in safety and the train was soon under way. We were sure the said train was under way for several fellows stood on the back platform and dropped bits of tissue paper and demonstrated the fact beyond the possibility of doubt. A feature of the days journey was the vision of J. J. J. practicing his famous 220 yard stride with the train for pace maker.

Oshkosh was the largest town in the itinerary, where the concert was given at the Grand Opera House, under the auspices of the Elks. When the curtain went up for the first act we were at once struck by the beautiful dark brown color of the seats, relieved by the occasional existence of a person or two in the disguise of an audience. The rolls were cast up and it was discovered that the crowd consisted of seventeen people and a real estate agent.

Friday morning found us in Fond du Lac, a town very much to the liking of the young and giddy portion of the aggregation as the genius "pretty girl" was present in a great superabundance. A good crowd greeted us at the Armory and following the program dancing was indulged in until early in the morning. When we left Saturday morning for the classic shades of Hebron many were the broken hearts left in our wake.

Hebron was reached after an exciting journey of six hours only to find there were no hotel accommodations for us. A crowded house greeted us and the size of the audience was only exceeded by its enthusiasm. A pleasing diversion was created by the fact that the clubs were obliged to resolve themselves into an express company and haul a grand piano to the opera house. In this work John F. Haas and John B. Tewksbury were especially distinguished by the valiant way in which they put their mighty biceps to good use. (?) That night we were obliged to sleep (?) in the car.

Sunday morning we were on our weary homeward way and practical jokes by Caron, Rath et al served to pass the time quickly. At 9:20 a tired but satisfied crowd left the train voting the trip an immense success.

Too much cannot be said in praise of the management for the way in which the tour was conducted. The management is always a position of responsibility and one which requires business tact and judgment and that these latter qualities were not lacking in this instance is shown by the satisfying results of the trip. A summer tour through the south is being planned under the same management and if at all practicable it goes without saying it will be as unqualified a success as this one has been.

Remember the home concert Fri. evening.
FERRY HALL NOTES.

Miss Musa Mohr returned to the Hall on Saturday.

Vacation is over and everyone is glad to work again.

Miss Harriet Longcor spent Sunday in the city with friends.

Miss May Jones spent part of last week with her mother at Highland Park.

Mr. Dietrich, of Hastings, Neb., spent Sunday with his daughter Gertrude.

Mrs. Lazarus, of Austin, Texas, visited with her daughter Retta on Thursday.

We regret the scarcity of news this week from some quarters, but "Tommy" went to the city.

"Ch—b" came back to school without her "dove" waist and has been warding off a cold ever since.

The Easter bonnet is abroad in the land, looking more like a combination vegetable and flower garden.

Some of the new and festive hats proclaim loudly that their owners are not members of the Audubon society.

Miss Adelle Keane, Miss Mary Moffat and Mrs. Hawley have had their names on the sick list for the past week.

Miss Winnie Westervelt, who has been absent from school for several months returned after spring vacation.

A small delegation of Sems, were practicing a call Thursday noon but on account of the lack of numbers it was again postponed.

Miss Florence Pride, of Chicago, and Miss Jessie Lindsey, of Milwaukee, former students at Ferry Hall were guests of Miss Smith on Thursday.

Miss Beathe Payne's many friends were sorry to learn that she would take up the study of music at Toledo, Ohio, and would not return to Ferry Hall this spring.

A few linens in the Tri Kappa colors floating from some of the windows greeted the first comers last Monday—just enough to remind the survivors of the terrible war which waged for a few days previous to vacation.

The seniors were unusually busy at luncheon on Saturday. The only reason that could be given for this vacant feeling was the fact that Saturday morning those lovely (?) second senior essays were read before the committee.

That beautiful blue gown with white trimmings which was imported from Paris last year, has disappeared from Miss "Ji-g-r's" wardrobe, and all attempts to find it have proven in vain. It may be decorating someone's memory book. Ask the Gamma Sigs.

The most interesting event since vacation occurred Friday night when Dr. Gray, of Highland Park, gave a lecture on "From London to Constantinople." The talk was full of humorous incidents and the droll manner in which they were told was hugely enjoyed by all those who were present.

Great interest has been evinced in the papers about the exciting war question. A grand rush is made for the library as soon as the news appears. Two war papers, a morning and evening edition, have been put on file, and several girls have subscribed for their favorite newspaper in order to keep posted on everyday affairs.

During vacation the carpenters were hard at work building a new floor in the chapel, the old one and the beams below having been found unsafe. On account of the oiling of the floor there has been some delay and the chapel exercises have been held in the parlor until everything was in readiness for occupancy in the chapel.

Athletics.

Golf enthusiasts are growing anxious to again be seen on the links.

The Ferry Hall Art League will hold its April meeting next Friday night in the studio.

A Bicycle Club is about to be organized in order to promote more interest in wheeling than seems to be felt among the riders at Ferry.

Everyone seems more than desirous that regular work in the gym should be discontinued soon. The Athletic Club expect to have the clay court re-taped and everything in readiness for playing tennis within a week, if the weather is in our favor.
Glee, Banjo and...
ALUMNI.

Extracts from a letter written by an ex-editor of the Stentor, now at Princeton Theological Seminary:

"I do not meet many Lake Forest graduates, but I do meet a great many persons who know of and have a high opinion of our alma mater. Quite a number of the western students in our seminary, when told that I am from Lake Forest, reply, "Oh, are you? I wanted to go there," or "I wish I could have gone to Lake Forest." I met Charley Smith, a loyal alumnus of Lake Forest, in New York, where he is engaged in business. We spent a very happy evening together talking over the old days of '94-5 when we all roomed in old College Hall and the third floor was the center of so much activity, the time we had getting up a minstrel show, and his trouble with the Sem cake. While at Black Island I met Mr. Osborn who was formerly assistant treasurer of the University. He wished to be remembered to his Lake Forest friends. He is at present engaged in business in the east. I spent the Christmas holidays in Philadelphia, and while there attended Bethany church, which has an enrollment of over four thousand in its Sunday school. J. Wilbur Chapman is the first of the four pastors of the church. I had the pleasure of meeting him at the close of the service and he assured me that he still thinks a great deal of Lake Forest.

"There are several here in Princeton who have been connected with Lake Forest. Many Lake Forest people will remember J. Mark Baldwin, formerly professor of philosophy in Lake Forest, who is professor of psychology in Princeton and is considered one of the best men in the faculty. In the seat next to mine in Professor Woodrow Wilson's class, in Politics sits Tommy Hedges. He is very popular among the members of his class, and his picture is in all the musical club photographs, for he is still fond of the violin and plays it with his old-time skill. G. L. Wilson, who attended Lake Forest in '92-3 is here in the seminary. He says that although he only attended Lake Forest one year, he intends to call himself a Lake Forest man. In recalling the events of that year he dwelt especially on the class scrap between '95 and '96 in College Hall.

"Jack McWilliams, in the Freshman class, is getting numerous high marks to his credit and bids fair to establish an enviable record for himself.

Stevens is occasionally heard from at Lawrenceville Academy, which is only four miles from here.

"While strolling through Yale campus last commencement I chanced upon A. C. Smith (better known as 'Gimpey') seated despondently on the Yale fence. When I questioned him I found that he had tutored for a couple of weeks on a subject in which he thought he had flunked but subsequently learned that he passed. This unnecessary mental exertion bore heavily on his spirits. Afterward when I visited his room he showed me a handsome cup, a prize he had won in a whist tournament. I also saw Charley Morrison in the graduating procession but could not get to speak to him.

W. F. Humiston, as you probably know, is organist in a church in East Orange, N. J. and is studying music in New York.

ALUMNI MEETING.

Monday evening, April 4, the Chicago Club of the Lake Forest Alumni held its regular monthly meeting at the Briggs House, Chicago. There were about twenty members present and after dinner a business meeting was held. A committee was appointed to act with a committee from the undergraduates in securing coaches for the athletic teams for the ensuing year. The meeting was very enthusiastic and productive of much interest. Among those present were: Fred Hayner, Aubrey Warren, T. S. Jackson, Fred Skinner, E. S. Wells, Jr., Will Wise, Dave Fales, D. H. Jackson, W. E. Pratt, A. S. Reid, D. S. Wentworth, M. K. Baker, George W. Wright, H. L. Bird, George Rice, J. B. Tewksbury and E. R. Crippen.

THE CHICAGO PRESBYTERY.

Last week at a meeting of the Chicago Presbytery a set of resolutions were adopted by the members which were sent to President McKinley assuring him of their prayerful hope that his action might secure a peaceful solution of the present crisis. Dr. Howard Agnew Johnston, secretary of our Board of Trustees, drew up the resolutions which were thus unanimously adopted and sent by him to the President.
ATHLETICS.

Capt. Terwilleger, of the Academy base ball team, is working hard with a lot of raw material from which he hopes to turn out a winning team. The personnel will be given next week.

The track and base ball team of the college will suffer severely from the loss of W. F. Jackson, who is compelled to retire from athletics for the rest of the year on account of his recent illness.

The base ball diamond on the new academy field was laid out last week and surveyors are now at work laying out the running track and we expect it will be ready for use in ten days or two weeks at the latest.

On account of the enforced absence of Physical Director DuBridge for three weeks it was thought best to drop the proposed gymnasium exhibition this year and instead a series of outdoor meets will be given as follows: Academy field day, Junior Academy day, University day and the inter-academic meet. If this program is carried out the lovers of athletics will have ample chance to gratify their desire for work.

The base ball season has opened with bright prospects for a winning team. Considerable interest is being shown and eighteen men have turned out for practice. Crippen will attend home plate, Jaeger and Tredway (Law) will do the twirling, J. Jackson and Jaeger for first base, Sickels, Jackson and Jaeger second base, Wood and Betten third, and Betten, Stanley and Hyde for short, while Reingans also has an envious eye turned toward second. The field will be contested for by Curtis, Hoagland, Kyle, Hyde, Blackler, Stanley, dense low and Reingans, with Gallager and Lewis from Rush. With this role of players Capt. Jaeger feels certain he will be able to pick a team that will win honors for our school. We are certainly fortunate in having Tredway, formerly of Yale, in our law department and he will show his loyalty to the school by doing his share in the pitcher's box. It would be impossible at this time to get a definite line on the players as it is still early in the season. But the playing of Jaeger, Wood, Betten, Crippen, Gallagher and Lewis is well known to all and we feel their places will be well filled. The respective strength of the rest of the players will be tested in the game with Englewood High School on Saturday.

STUDENT RALLY.

Thursday afternoon last week another of the series of student gatherings was held in the Art Institute. Rev. Dr. Clark Hill, of Chicago, was present and gave a pleasant talk on "The Scotchman," enlivening his talk with numerous anecdotes told with an accent, to show his Scotch descent. The Mitchell Hall Chorus rendered a delightful "Mitchell Hall Medley." Professor Stuart moved a vote of thanks to Dr. Hill for his talk and this was seconded by Prof. Smith and unanimously carried by the house.
